About Me

I'm Saad Money from Morocco, a UI/UX Designer with a Computer Science background—bringing a unique edge of understanding both design and development. My journey began in UI/UX Design, but my CS foundation drove me to learn front-end development, giving me deep insight into how designs translate into working products.

This combination allows me to create user-centered designs that are not only visually engaging but also technically feasible. I anticipate constraints during design, propose innovative yet implementable solutions, and ensure smooth handoffs between design and development teams.

My process spans user research, wireframing, prototyping, design systems, and brand identity. What sets me apart is validating design decisions through a technical lens, ensuring solutions serve both user needs and development efficiency.

With my coding background as a strategic advantage, I deliver designs that don't just look good in Figma—they work beautifully in the real world, making me an effective, collaborative designer who can lead projects confidently.
